Brute Killed Baby. One of the most dramatic stories ever recited by woman's lips was that yesterday by Agnes Renoude, common-law wife of Gustav Dinsor, in General Sessions in New York, telling how the plumber killed her two-year old child, Gertrude Hyland, and how they afterwards hid the body in a hallway.

The woman said: "On the night of September 4 we came in about midnight.

he pulled off a shoe and hit me on the head with the heel. "I cried out with pain and he went out. Then he came back to where I was sitting at the table, trying to stop the blood from running over my face, and hit me with an iron bar. Then he grabbed the baby out of the bed, carried her into the parlor and threw her on the "He knelt down by her and hit her

I said anything. We went to bed, but I did not sieep. I was awake all night thinking about Gertie. I think he slept well."

Agnos Renoude had sobbed when she spoke of her baby's bloody garments, but she did not really break down until she started from the court. Her face was working as she neared the witness-room door, and when it opened she shrieked.

Terrine Race with Death, "Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different-locators and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at E. S.
